

BattleNet

Install

So if you want to install battlenet and play anygame on it you will need a layer to do so. You have multiple solutions :

- Make BattleNet a steam game
- Lutris
- Heroic
- Others that i don't remember

I tried the steam thing first and it was a great idea ... until it was became a mess depending on if you are on kde or gnome, the version of fedora, ...

So i went for Lutris which works very well outside of the fact that the login window can glitch out sometimes but you just need to over with the mouse and stuff should reappear.

Lutris

Just download lutris from the discovery app, start it, look for battlenet follow the step by step instructions and when you do something like closing the login window and nothing happens just trust the process and wait ... go make a coffee or something i guess.
